Kim's BABY NEWS

WHY EVERYONE THINKS SHE'S PREGNANT

Kim Kardashian has a lot going on. She's newly married to Kris Humphries and still figuring out how to be a Mrs., she's adjusting to a new town after moving to NYC, and now, there may be another big change. "Kim said she's late," a pal tells OK!. "She was supposed to get her period and didn't."
It's a welcome development for the star. "Kim always thought she'd have several kids by age 30, so in her mind she's behind schedule," says an insider. In fact, says the source, Kim is doing tons of stuff that makes those around her wonder if she already has a secret. "Kim's been going through all the K names," says the insider. "She even has a baby-name book and looks up the meaning of each one." But that's not all. OK! also noticed a few of the other reasons why everyone thinks Kim has baby on the way.

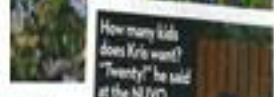

Since when does Kim (with Kris) cover up her abs while in a bling?

2 KIM WASN'T AS SKINNY AS WE THOUGHT SHE'D BE FOR HER WEDDING

It's strange, Kim dieted so hard, then suddenly stopped before the big day," says the pal. She looked gorgeous, but when perfectionist Kim wants to be skinny for a shoot, she is, and
